1. Background

1.1. About the Pakistan Skills Impact Bond The Pakistan Skills Impact Bond ("PSIB") represents a groundbreaking initiative specifically designed to address Pakistan's acute skills shortage, combat youth unemployment, and promote economic stability. Developed through strategic collaboration with the National Vocational and Technical Training Commission ("NAVTTTC"), the PSIB establishes a sustainable financing framework for vocational training that reduces dependence on constrained public funds while optimizing resource allocation. While initially focused on skills development, the PSIB model holds significant potential for expansion into other critical sectors including healthcare, women's empowerment, climate-resilient agriculture, and digital inclusion. By attracting private capital, this initiative enables NAVTTC to reduce reliance on government funding while ensuring the long-term sustainability and scalability of its training programs. It also promotes a results-based approach, whereby public funds are increasingly directed towards training that leads to measurable employment outcomes, ensuring better value for money. The PSIB is designed as a three-year workforce development program that will include 2-3 cohorts of beneficiaries whose enrollment, training, and placement and retention at relevant jobs will be measured. NAVTCC will oversee the management of the program, and service providers contracted by NAVTCC will implement the program.

1.2. About National Vocational and Technical Training Commission (NAVTTTC) NAVTTC is the apex body mandated to regulate, facilitate, and promote skills development in Pakistan. In pursuit of enhancing income generation opportunities for youth, NAVTTC has launched the first Pakistan Skills Impact Bond, an innovative skills financing model. This new model will support NAVTTC's agenda to align skills training with domestic and international labor market demands, ensuring sustainable livelihoods for youth through strong employer linkages, and, where applicable, internationally recognized certification.

1.3. About the Independent Verification The PSIB will require an independent verification mechanism to ensure that reported results are credible, consistent, and meet agreed definitions. The Independent Verification Agent (IVA) will be responsible for validating reported results and producing verification reports that trigger outcome payments. Instead of assessing program performance broadly, the IVA examines objective evidence tied directly to payment triggers, such as training quality, verified training completion/ certification, authentic job placements, and confirmed retention. This makes the evaluation far more rigorous, high-stakes, and evidence-driven than standard MEL, as its findings directly determine service provider payments and ensure full accountability within the results-based financing structure.

2. Objective of the Assignment The objective of this assignment is for an Independent Verification Agent (IVA) to independently verify the performance and results achieved under the PSIB. In a results-based financing model like the PSIB, independent verification is the central safeguard that ensures outcome payments are made only when real, credible, and independently validated results have been achieved. The IVA plays a pivotal role in maintaining the integrity, fairness, and financial accountability of the entire mechanism. Outcome payments under the PSIB—whether for enrolment, training completion/certification, job placement, or job retention—are released only when the IVA confirms that reported results are accurate and evidence-based. The IVA will be responsible for confirming that: a) Beneficiary eligibility aligns with the program’s inclusion criteria (e.g., age, gender, education level, employment status and geographic focus). b) Service delivery has been implemented as reported, with enrollment, attendance, training quality and completion/ certification verified in accordance with approved curricula, standards, and training plans. c) Job placements have been secured and verified as genuine, with supporting evidence such as employment contracts, employment confirmation letters, or government system data. d) Job retention has been maintained for the defined period (e.g., six months), including verification of continued employment or timely re-employment The IVA will validate all data submitted by service providers by reviewing documentation including but not limited to enrolment records, attendance sheets, employment contracts, and payroll evidence. In addition to verifying submitted data, the IVA should also propose an appropriate methodology including physical field visits to conduct independent checks as and when required—possibly including NAVTCC will oversee the management of the program, and service providers contracted by NAVTCC will implement the program.

1.1. About National Vocational and Technical Training Commission (NAVTTTC)

NAVTTTC is the apex body mandated to regulate, facilitate, and promote skills development in Pakistan. In pursuit of enhancing income generation opportunities for youth, NAVTTTC has launched the first Pakistan Skills Impact Bond, an innovative skills financing model.

This new model will support NAVTTTC's agenda to align skills training with domestic and international labor market demands, ensuring sustainable livelihoods for youth through strong employer linkages, and, where applicable, internationally recognized certification.

1.1. About the Independent Verification

The PSIB will require an independent verification mechanism to ensure that reported results are credible, consistent, and meet agreed definitions. The Independent Verification Agent (IVA) will be responsible for validating reported results and producing verification reports that trigger outcome payments. Instead of assessing program performance broadly, the IVA examines objective evidence tied directly to payment triggers, such as training quality, verified training completion/ certification, authentic job placements, and confirmed retention. This makes the evaluation far more rigorous, high-stakes, and evidence-driven than standard MEL, as its findings directly determine service provider payments and ensure full accountability within the results-based financing structure.

1. Objective of the Assignment

The objective of this assignment is for an Independent Verification Agent (IVA) to independently verify the performance and results achieved under the PSIB. In a results-based financing model like the PSIB, independent verification is the central safeguard that ensures outcome payments are made only when real, credible, and independently validated results have been achieved. The IVA plays a pivotal role in maintaining the integrity, fairness, and financial accountability of the entire mechanism. Outcome payments under the PSIB—whether for enrolment, training completion/certification, job placement, or job retention—are released only when the IVA confirms that reported results are accurate and evidence-based.

The IVA will be responsible for confirming that:

1. Beneficiary eligibility aligns with the program's inclusion criteria (e.g., age, gender, education level, employment status and geographic focus).
2. Service delivery has been implemented as reported, with enrollment, attendance, training quality and completion/certification verified in accordance with approved curricula, standards, and training plans.
3. Job placements have been secured and verified as genuine, with supporting evidence such as employment contracts, employment confirmation letters, or government system data.
4. Job retention has been maintained for the defined period (e.g., six months), including verification of continued employment or timely re-employment

The IVA will validate all data submitted by service providers by reviewing documentation including but not limited to enrolment records, attendance sheets, employment contracts, and payroll evidence. In addition to verifying submitted data, the IVA should also propose an appropriate methodology including physical field visits to conduct independent checks as and when required—possibly including spot checks, employer outreach, and beneficiary follow-ups—to confirm key outcomes such as training participation, job placement, and retention. In doing so, the IVA will ensure that results reported by service providers are credible, consistent, and aligned with the PSIB's payment structure. The methodology will be finalized at the inception stage of the assignment with NAVTTC and relevant stakeholders .

Beyond compliance, the verification process will also serve a learning and improvement function — by identifying systemic gaps, highlighting implementation challenges, and generating insights to inform future program cycles and strengthen results-based financing approaches in Pakistan’s skills sector.

1. Scope of Work

The IVA will be responsible for independently verifying program inputs, outputs, and outcomes across all participating service providers to ensure that payments are tied to credible and verifiable results. The scope of work will cover the following key dimensions of the PSIB program lifecycle:

1. Pre-implementation support

- 1.1. Provide standardized verification tools and templates for consistent data reporting across all providers (e.g., enrollment forms, attendance sheets, verification checklists).
- 1.2. Participate in training and alignment sessions with NAVTTC and service providers to ensure shared understanding of verification protocols, data requirements, and timelines.

2. Implementation phase - the IVA will be responsible for the following aspects:

- 2.1. Program eligibility - Verify that enrolled beneficiaries meet eligibility criteria (e.g., age, gender, education level, employment status and geographic target) through a combination of ID checks, document reviews, and cross-verification with government databases where possible.
- 2.2. Service delivery - Confirm that training has been conducted in accordance with approved curricula, using pre-approved templates (developed by IVA) for data reporting such as signed attendance sheets, enrollment forms, training certificates, and digital tracking data where possible.[\[AD1\]](#)

2.3. Placement - Validate job placement evidence such as employment contracts and joining letters, employer confirmations, or government system data.

2.4. Retention - Confirm continuous employment for the agreed retention period (6 months for all beneficiaries including female beneficiaries). Any breaks including due to a job change, aggregating up to a total period of four (4) weeks shall not be counted for the calculation of each three (3) month period of retention. This may involve cross-checking payroll data, employer attestations, or EOBI records.

(Refer to Annex I to see the proposed verification scope and methods)

1. Learning and adaptive management

1.1. Track learning indicators throughout program implementation to generate insights on performance trends, emerging challenges, and systemic bottlenecks.

1.2. Document key lessons, risks, and recommendations to strengthen data systems, verification efficiency, and overall PSIB implementation, including proposed improvements to processes, reporting formats, and feedback loops.

(Refer to Annex I for the proposed learning metrics. This list is indicative; the IVA is expected to develop and submit a comprehensive set of qualitative and quantitative learning metrics, to be finalized in consultation with the PSIB)

1. Reporting and stakeholder engagement

- 1.1. Submit periodic verification and learning reports highlighting findings, lessons, and actionable recommendations (Please see Section 7, Deliverables Schedule, for frequency of submissions)). Verification reports should present quantitative and qualitative findings, accompanied by analysis and relevant learnings mapped to the learning metrics. These insights will be vital in informing the design of subsequent PSIB cohorts.
- 1.2. Support dissemination of insights through briefs, presentations, and learning products that inform decision-making and stakeholder engagement.
- 1.3. Participate in periodic meetings with NAVTTC and other relevant stakeholders to present findings. (Frequency to be decided at inception stage)

It is expected that the IVA will provide an innovative and thorough methodology for how this scope of work will be operationalized. This should include the sampling strategy for any independent data collection that will be conducted by the IVA, to validate the results beyond what has already been provided by the service providers.

Feedback and consolidated findings compiled by the IVA shall be shared with Service Providers, the PSIB Secretariat and other identified stakeholders at the end of each cohort. These timelines may be adjusted as necessary based on program needs, data availability, and the verification cycle agreed upon.

1. Program Details

The PSIB program will be delivered in 2-3 cohorts, enrolling a total of approximately 5,000 participants^[1]. This target will be allocated roughly equally across both cohorts. Each cohort will follow the full program cycle, including mobilization and enrollment, training, job placement, and post-placement retention support*. The second or third cohort will begin once the previous cohort's placement has been verified. Within each cohort, there will be trainings of varying lengths depending on the trade/type of certification. All trainings for the same cohort will start on the same day, and follow one of these three verification cycles; (i) for training programs under 2 months, (ii) for training programs of 3-4 months, and (iii) for training programs of 5-6 months. Please see Section 7 below for the verification schedule.

[1] Estimated program outcomes: 80% of enrolled participants are expected to complete training; of those, approximately 60% are expected to secure employment; and of those placed, 60% are expected to remain employed after six months.

Service providers' payments will only be made once the IVA has verified the outcomes at training, certification, job placement and retention.

1. Eligibility Criteria [\[AD2\]](#)

The following is required for a firm to be eligible to apply for this program:

- Registration with the SECP / Relevant Authority
- NTN and ATL Status
